Farewell, Rezzee!

Community Mister Rezzee Jul 2, 2019

Hey Xbox Ambassadors, Rezzee here. I have some bittersweet news to share with all of you. Friday, July 5th will be my last day as a Community Manager on the Xbox Ambassadors Team. These past 13 months has been nothing short of inspiring, and I'm incredibly thankful to the entire Xbox Ambassadors community for making every day memorable.

Join me for one last look back at our time together?

Looking Back

It's hard to believe it's been nearly 13 months since I took the first step on my Xbox Ambassadors journey. I knew almost immediately that it was going to be a special one as I spent my first days getting to know our amazing community. I've never been a part of a community that was as welcoming, positive, and motivated to sharing memorable experiences with others as this one.

In my time as a Community Manager, I've seen some amazing stories rise from Xbox Ambassadors who wanted to share their sense of community with everyone. Xbox Ambassadors met up in Milan for Xbox FanFest and shared their experience with us. There is no shortage of stories that show just how great the Xbox Ambassadors community is.

```
src="https://wordpressblogupdate.azurewebsites.net/wp-content/uploads/2019/07/PAX-East-Table.jpg" alt="The four Xbox Ambassadors Community Managers posing behind the PAX East table."
```

We've embarked on epic adventures together. In August, we spent five days at PAX West in Seattle, which included our epic Meet & Greet at GameWorks arcade. In March 2019, we stepped onto a plane and travelled to Boston to attend PAX East for the very first time. Just last month, we arrived in LA to experience the magic of E3 2019. It was so epic, we needed two blogs to talk about it! The best part of these events was getting to meet Xbox Ambassadors in-person for the first time.

We played through the latest games together. Thank you to everyone who joined me every Thursday from 12-2pm Pacific Time on the Xbox Ambassadors Mixer channel for #RezPlz! One of the highlights of my week has always been getting to spend a couple of hours chatting on stream, talking about the latest in the Xbox Ambassadors program, experiencing the latest game releases together, and hosting open lobbies in Forza Horizon 4 and Halo.

There are way too many memories to list here, but all of them were possible because of the amazing Xbox Ambassadors community. Thank you.

```
src="https://wordpressblogupdate.azurewebsites.net/wp-content/uploads/2019/07/PAX-West-Gaming.jpg" alt="Rezzee and Taxel check out State of Decay 2 Daybreak at PAX West 2018."
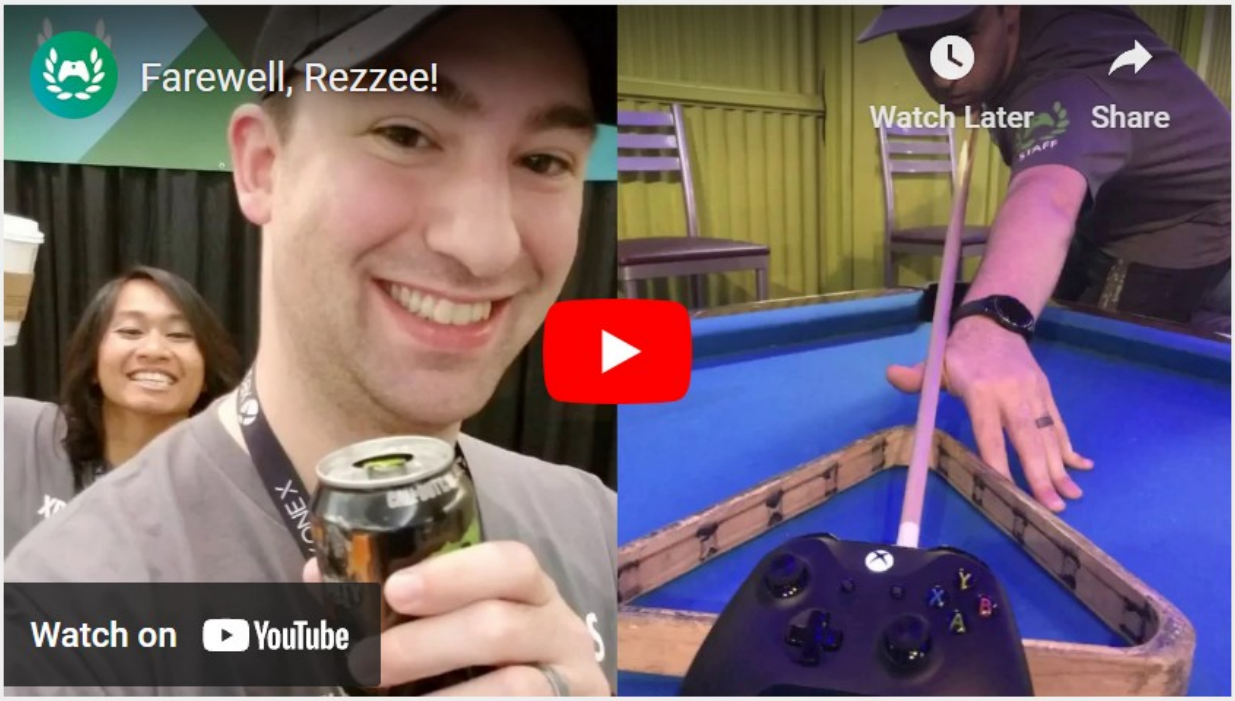
```

This isn’t good-bye

While I may be leaving my post as a Community Manager, I won’t be going far. I still plan on being active in the usual places, including Discord, Twitter, and even Play Dates when I can. Hopefully I’ll see y’all there!

<3 Rezzee



Farewell, Rezzee!
Watch Later
Share
Watch on YouTube